

Fantastic Fireflies

Fireflies are a magical thing to see on warm summer nights. Have you seen fireflies in your neighborhood?

Color the firefly ✨

Rainbow of Colors

Even though they are sometimes called 'lightning bugs', it isn't electricity that causes the glow. Instead, a chemical reaction in their abdomen creates light. Most fireflies glow yellow-green, but some glow orange, red, or even blue!

Morse Code

Fireflies flash their light in unique patterns to identify and find each other in the dark. It is similar to the human language called 'morse code' which is made up of long and short signals. You can say "hello" to the fireflies in morse code by turning a flashlight off and on in this pattern:
