

PARTNERSHIP PACKET

2019 Information

Help connect kids and families to the outdoors for their health and the health of our parks and public lands

About KIP

Kids in Parks (KIP) partners with land management agencies across the country to convert their existing trails—including hiking, biking, paddling, and disc golf—into kid friendly trails through the installation of interactive self-guided materials that get families unplugged, active outdoors, and reconnected to nature.

Recent studies show that, on average, kids spend 7.65 hours per day “plugged-in” to electronic devices and only 7 minutes per day participating in unstructured outdoor play. These trends have led to declining visitation rates to parks and public lands and to a myriad of health-related issues for children including childhood obesity, diabetes, and depression.

To help link spending time in nature with improved health, KIP works with doctors’ offices and hospital systems to prescribe outdoor recreation and the network of TRACK Trails to patients through the TRACK Rx program.

Impact and Reach

- Since 2009, over 600,000 kids have spent 300,000 hours and burned 90,000,000 calories on TRACK Trails
